PERSONAL.

Prof. Harry B. Bradford, an instructor in mechanical drawing at Howard university, Washington, has been told that he must stop his crusade against vaccination or resign from the institution.

Dr. George W. Witter, a prominent physician of San Jose, Cal., was killed in front of his home by an automobile driven by William Johnston, the young son of an attorney.

Addressing the International Prison congress in Washington, Professor Vanberg of Hungary urged the necessity of special training for prison officials.

Larue Wredenburgh, twenty-six years old, son of Peter Wredenburgh of Springfield, Ill., was instantly killed in the state fair grounds track when the car he was driving plunged through the fence and he was almost decapitated.

The condition of former Governor Broward, who is ill at his home at Jacksonville, Fla., is unchanged. According to an announcement by attending physicians the former governor and senator-elect is in a critical condition.

J. S. Lyda, a prosperous farmer of Henderson county, North Carolina, was shot and instantly killed by his son, Meredith Lyda. The tragedy is said to have been the result of a quarrel. The slayer was arrested after he had attempted to kill himself.

Maj. George M. Downey, U. S. A., retired, originator of the army post canteen, died at Washington after a week's illness. He was sixty-nine years old. Maj. Downey had participated in three Indian campaigns.

Edward B. Moore, commissioner of patents, has returned to Washington after a long stay in South America, where he attended the Pan-American conference as a member of the American delegation.

GENERAL NEWS.

The explosion of an oil stove in the home of Mrs. Jennie Little at Gladstone, Ill., caused a fire in which Mrs. Little and her father-in-law, Conrad Little, were burned to death.

Unofficial figures give the number entering the Yale law school this fall as 22. Last year the entering class numbered 32, whereas, the previous year the number was 143. Entrance requirements have been raised.

In a futile effort to capture John F. Dietz, near Winter, Wis., the "outlaw of Cameron Dam," three of the Dietz children were shot and two of the three wounded were captured. The other escaped to warn his father of the raid.

A great corporation is soon to go into operation. It is declared, in Cincinnati dispatches, for the purpose of furnishing groceries by the slot-machine method in the crowded tenement districts of the great cities. It is said the invention will do away with the corner store.

Searchers in the ruins of the Los Angeles Times building, which was destroyed by an explosion and fire, came upon seven charred bodies at the foot of the elevator shaft. The bodies could not be recognized. Five bodies, all badly charred, had been previously recovered.

When returning from a dance George W. England, city marshal of Joliet, Okla., was shot and killed by Frank Thompson, half brother of a man England killed seven years ago.

A great powwow of Indians of the northwest, in which about 4,000 participated, began near Spokane, Wash.

Four persons killed and twenty seriously injured—several of them probably fatally—was the sacrifice on the altar of speed at the sixth Vanderbilt cup automobile race. Mismanagement and poor policing of the course were declared responsible for the slaughter. The race was won in electrifying fashion by Harry Grant, driving a 120-horsepower Alco.

The New York Democratic state convention nominated John A. Dix for governor by a vote of 434 to 16 for Congressman Sulzer. The platform adopted pledges the party to the preservation of the "old nationalism," condemns "all attacks upon the Supreme court of the United States," and favors direct primaries.

William Simon, a farmer of Schoolhill, Wis., shot and killed Miss Emma Brandt, his sweetheart, after she had refused to marry him; shot her sister, Miss Tillie Brandt, through the hand; fired two shots at his cousin, Lawrence Simon, and then killed himself at Lawrence Simon's home in Chicago.

Senator William Lorimer was directly accused of obtaining one of the votes that elected him to the United States senate by promises which under the Illinois statutes are declared to constitute bribery. State Representative Henry A. Shephard of Jerseyville testified at Chicago that Lorimer promised, in return for his vote, to prevent two candidates from securing the postmasterhip of Jerseyville and to appoint Shephard's friend.

Dogfish are good to eat—just as good served as "dogfish" as they are labeled in cafes as "ocean whitefish," "sea bass" or "Japanese halibut"—says Dr. Irving Field of the United States fish commission.

The secret service has unearthed what appears to be an extensive attempt at counterfeiting national bank notes. Notes of the same denomination and issue were found in the Pasadena (Cal.) National bank were discovered. They had been issued on the First National bank of Williamsport, Pa.

Eleven hundred and ninety-three miles has been made on a trolley car by Henry E. Juergens of Pittsburgh, who has returned from the New England states. The cost of the trip was $23.10.

The condition of United States Senator La Follette is reported to be grave. He is at Rochester, Minn., for medical examination and probable operation, having previously been under treatment there.

Charles R. Wright, who was made sporting editor of the Syracuse (N. Y.) Courier in 1873, is dead from the effects of a fall. Mr. Wright was the first sporting editor ever employed by any newspaper in the United States.

Bullets, sabers and the iron shod boots of their horses were the weapons with which the Berlin police sought to crush the riots of the coal strikers and their sympathizers in the Moabit district. As a result of frequent clashes several hundred rioters are in hospitals, some dangerously wounded.

Dr. Robert Thompson, alias Grant, was indicted at San Francisco for the death of Eva C. Swan, the young teacher and stenographer who succumbed after an operation and whose body was buried in the basement of an old house. Murder is the charge.

The war department has ruled that the cadet organizations of educational institutions are not properly a part of the organized militia and that army officers should not be detailed to inspect the personnel of such organizations.

Arnold J. Smith of Chicago has received high commendation for bravery from the navy department at Washington for his work in preventing an explosion during a fire on the battleship North Dakota September 8.

Prof. W. S. Thomas, a business associate of the late Jay Gould, died at his home near Little Rock, Ark. Before the Civil war Professor Thomas was a well-known newspaper man.

William Gaylor, who claimed to be a nephew of Mayor Gaylor of New York city, was killed by a live electric wire at Galveston, Tex. Gaylor was a lineman.

Running 20 miles an hour, with its engineer unconscious of the blundering of the crew of a freight train, a Lake Erie & Western passenger train carrying excursionists dashed head-on into a string of freight cars on the main track at Laporte, Ind. More than thirty persons were injured, several seriously.

The thirty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' association opened in Los Angeles, Cal., with an attendance and program that made it one of the best meetings the organization ever has held.

Delegates from all over the world were present when Congressman F. W. Mondell of Wyoming called to order the annual Dry Farming congress in Spokane, Wash.

The Alaska-Yukon Magazine of Seattle reports a falling off of more than $5,000,000 in the gold output of Alaska from 1909 to 1910.

Statistics show that the United States, with 690,438 persons employed in mining coal in 1908, produced 126,652,000 more tons of coal than were produced by 966,264 persons similarly employed in Great Britain.

Twenty-six of the twenty-eight police surgeons of Philadelphia have gone on a strike because they are forced to wear uniforms and were ordered to march in the annual parade.

Twenty-nine persons, all members of the crew of the battleship New Hampshire, were drowned in the sinking of a launch in the Hudson river. That the death list was not much greater is due to the bravery and personal rescues effected by Godfrey De C. Chevallier, a midshipman. Chevallier rescued fifteen persons who were in the water.

John F. Dietz, the outlaw of Cameron Dam, in the wilderness of northern Wisconsin, is practically a prisoner in his log house in the center of his clearing. While Dietz is surrounded in his forest clearing, the town of Winter is excited, because Dietz has threatened to invade the place and shoot every person involved in the shooting of his two sons and his daughter. The town is under martial rule.

While lying at a pier at Norfolk, Va., the steamer New York, of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railway company, was almost completely destroyed by fire. The loss is $75,000.

Three hundred men digging unceasingly for over thirty hours have unearthed five bodies from the debris of the Los Angeles Times building in which 20 men lost their lives and a score or more others were injured in the explosion and fire which destroyed the structure. Just 12 hours after the disaster occurred an attempt was made to destroy the residence of Gen. Harrison Gray Olds, the proprietor of the paper, by means of a bomb.

Mrs. Roxie Howl, who was charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, Frank Howl, in Nelson county, Virginia, last May, was acquitted at Livingston, Va. John Moore, indicted with her, must die for the crime.

A WARNING.

An editor who had died of starvation was being escorted to heaven by an angel who had been sent for that purpose. "May I look into the other place before I ascend into eternal happiness?" asked the editor. "Certainly." So they went below and skinned around taking in the sights. The angel lost track of the editor and went around Hades to hunt him up. He found him by a big furnace fanning himself, and gazing with rapture at a lot of people in the fire. There was a sign on the furnace which read: "Delinquent Subscribers. 'You go on,' said the editor; 'I am not coming. This is heaven enough for me.'"

Stopped at the Tenth.

While a prominent Philadelphia salesman was in Pittsburgh on business he received the following telegram from his wife: "Come home as soon as you can. I am dying." Of course the salesman rushed home, but to be greeted at the front door by his wife with a face radiant with joy. "Why, I thought you were dying," he said.

She shook her head in reply. "Well, why did you send me such a telegram, then?" "It was that crazy old operator," she said. "I wanted to say: 'Come home as soon as you can. I am dying to see you,' but he would only let me send ten words for a quarter."

Like This.

An editor relates the following: "When first he came to see her, he showed a timid heart; and even when the light was low yet this far apart, but as the love grew warmer, they learned its joys and bliss and sat so close together."

An Ordeal.

"I'm a good deal worried about this suffrage meeting," said the policeman.

"Are you apprehensive of disorder?" "Not at all. But it's a terrible thing to have to stand around and listen to all those speeches."

As Far as He Would Go.

She (after the tilt).—You will admit you were wrong?

He (a young lawyer).—No; but I'll admit that an unintentional error might have unknowingly crept into my assertion.—Christian Endeavor World.

Almost a Walkover.

"Tell me, is there anything on earth that new yacht of yours can't overtake and pass?" "I should say there is."

"What's that?" "Its running expenses."

Just a Little Later.

"Pretty smart boy of yours, Tom Jim."

"Yep he knows everything. Graduated in June. Pretty soon he'll know more!"

Bounding Along.

"I hear De Vere is making money on his spring poems."

"Yes, writing advertisements for a mattress factory."

A woman cannot cut much ice with a hatchet face.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by
J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y.
From Correspondent New York State Grange

THE OLDEST GRANGES.

Facts Bearing on the Organization of Pomona or County Granges.
(Special Correspondence.)

It is particularly unfortunate for future historians that heretofore the national and state granges have not procured and preserved the same data concerning the organization of Pomona granges that has been kept of the subordinates. The Granite State grange has established the precedent of filing a list of each of the Pomona granges in New Hampshire, the date and place of their organization, the name and residence of the organizing deputy and incidents in their early history. As time elapses the value of this data and the difficulty in procuring it will increase in the same ratio.

The county, district or Pomona granges were not a part of the original plan of the Patrons of Husbandry. The semi-public fraternal organizations called county councils usually preceded the Pomona granges and revealed the necessity for their organization.

Just when, where and by whom the first Pomona grange was instituted are shrouded in mystery, and a diligent research has failed to find the mystagogue.

Although the national grange did not provide plans for the organization of Pomona granges until the famous session in Charleston, S. C., in 1874, yet there is no doubt that fifth degree granges were instituted and their method of work determined by trial and experience previous to this time.

It is claimed by Chemung Pomona Patrons of New York that theirs was the "first Pomona ever organized under the laws of the national grange," and there is no evidence to refute the claim, but their further claim of being the oldest Pomona grange in existence cannot be substantiated, for I have a copy of the records made more than nine months previously at the organization of the Peoria county (Ill.) Pomona, which has always held meetings regularly, and as its number is thirty-three it is apparent that many similar granges were instituted in the middle west before the national grange arranged for their organization and framed laws for their government.

In procuring data for the "History of Eastern New Hampshire Pomona Grange," just published, I have not been able to ascertain that any county or district grange has had an active existence for a longer time than the one in Peoria county, Ill., and that seems to be entitled to the distinction of being the oldest Pomona grange in the world.

The following dates of the organization of the older Pomona granges have been procured from their respective secretaries:

Peoria county, Ill., organized June 2, 1874.
Chemung county, N. Y., No. 1, organized March 6, 1875.
Newcastle, Del., No. 1, organized May 1, 1875.
Burlington county, N. J., No. 1, organized May 18, 1875.
Chester and Delaware, Pa., No. 3, organized June 3, 1875.
Barrien county, Mich., No. 1, organized July 11, 1875.
Androscoog county, Me., No. 1, organized Sept. 28, 1875.
Chittenden county, Vt., No. 1, organized in January, 1876.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

Prizes Offered For Best Essays by Grange Boys and Girls.

Great interest is being taken in Cattaraugus and Chautauque counties, N. Y., in the prize offer made by Adelbert W. Cummings, a wealthy manufacturer of Dunkirk, to give a liberal cash prize for the best essay on practical farm problems written and submitted by a farmer's son or daughter and grange member in those two counties.

The officers of the state grange are acting with Mr. Cummings in the judging, and the actual decisions will be made by members of the faculty of the Cornell College of Agriculture.

The interest taken by Mr. Cummings in practical agriculture and how to interest the young men and women in that subject and his liberality in making this essay contest possible are an example well to do men throughout the state would be conferring a distinct public benefit in following, says State Lecturer Lowell.

Grange Apple Show.

At its next annual exhibition in September the Worcester (Mass.) Agricultural society will offer over $500 in premiums to the grangers of Worcester county for best exhibit of apples. This is a rare recognition of the granges, and the interest is likely to be large in the competition, as the first premium is $150.

Ohio Patrons of Husbandry.

The annual reunion of Ohio Patrons will be held at the state fair Sept. 7 and 8. Last year over 1,000 members registered, and many more are expected this year, as the growth in membership has been great. State Master Hall of Michigan and Past Master Ladd of Massachusetts will be the speakers.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"Happiness," says the Philosopher of Folly, "is a toss-up between a bachelor's advice and a married man's warning."

Luck.

"Have any serious trouble with your new automobile?" "Not a bit. So far I haven't hit a single man without being able to get away before he got my number."—Cleveland Leader.

Be wise today; it is madness to defer.

TAFT IS TO BE EVICTED

PRESIDENT CAN'T HAVE SUMMER HOME NEXT YEAR.

Cottage Occupied by Chief Executive Will be Razed and an Italian Garden Substituted.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 5.—The president of the United States is to be evicted from his summer White House on the north shore. Admission of this fact has just been received here. He will be permitted to finish out his vacation this year in the Evans cottage at Burgess Point, but when he closes the door behind him on October 17, that will be the end of his occupancy. Mr. Taft wants to come back another year and he announced that he will be back along the north shore next year. But, on the point of his occupying the Evans cottage, he and the owner differ. The president would like to return to Burgess Point.

Mrs. Robert Dawson Evans, the owner, doesn't want him. As between the president of the United States and an Italian garden Mrs. Evans prefers the latter. Therefore next summer the house which for two summers has been the official residence of the chief executive will have been razed to the ground and an Italian garden will have taken its place. Meanwhile the president and Mrs. Taft are scouring the north shore like ordinary men house-hunters seeking a place where they may set up next summer the Taft lare and penates. It is perhaps the first time in the history of the republic that a president has been coldly turned away.

PAY TRIBUTE TO LOST ONES

Blue Jackets on Battleship Strew Flowers on Waters That Cover Bodies of Drowned Comrades.

New York, Oct. 5.—A mass of beautiful purple asters floated down the Hudson river from the point where lay the United States battleship New Hampshire which lost 20 some of its crew in the launch accident. A single white carnation bobbed up and down on the choppy waves with the larger and more showy flowers. Until all the blooms sank or were carried beyond sight, 150 blue jackets aboard the battleship stood at her portside and watched them with their caps in hands and tears in their eyes. The ships sounded the sorrowful melody of "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Then one bugler played the plaintive call of "Taps." The flowers had been dropped reverently over the side of the vessel, an aster by each of the enlisted men, and the lone carnation by Midshipman Chevallier, who had charge of the boat which was upset.

RUSSIAN SPY ASSASSINATED

Evno Azeff Also Posed as Head of Fighting Socialists—Death Brings to Close Tragic Chapter.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—The Novoe Vremya reports that Evno Azeff, described both as the head of the fighting Russian Socialists and as a political police spy, has been assassinated at Wiesbaden. Azeff's death brings to a close a tragic chapter in the history of Russia's notorious police methods, for Azeff, long supposed to be a member of the Russian revolutionists, was finally discovered to be a spy in the pay of the czar's government. Azeff is generally credited with effecting the arrest and execution of more revolutionists and plotters against the life of the czar than any spy the government ever had.

ST. PATRICK'S CONSECRATED

New York, Oct. 5.—The celebration of high mass at five o'clock this morning by Archbishop John M. Farley, head of the archdiocese of New York, was the beginning of a two days' religious festival for the dedication of St. Patrick's cathedral to the uses of religion, unencumbered by debt. The consecration of the great Catholic place of worship at Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street has brought together an assemblage of prelates only a little less notable than that which marked the recent Eucharistic congress in Montreal.

JACOB F. GIERING

Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner—He Will Appreciate the Support of Yourself and Friends.

J. F. Giering is a Democratic candidate for county commissioner and will appreciate the support of yourself and friends. The board of county commissioners is now republican, every member on it being a republican. There should be at least one Democratic member on this board in order that the affairs would be conducted in an unpartisan manner. In Pennsylvania the laws stipulate and makes it compulsory that the board be divided politically. Mr. Giering would surely make a good man for the Defectors and Republicans and that is why it is predicted that he will be one of the members of the next board of county commissioners.

Mr. Giering comes of good German stock. He is a son of Louis Giering, known throughout the county. To this reputation he has added his own in years of successful business relations with the people of Youngstown and Mahoning county. As the head of the J. F. Giering Company he has built up a business which is known throughout the community and brings him into touch with business people of the city who know his worth.—Journal.
